- A penguin on- "The mce slid down a frozen waterfall at 60 km/h, looking absolutysterious diary records ely thrilled about it.
- The oldest tree on Earth is over 5,000 years old and has never once the voice." been late to anything.
- Somewhere right now, a ca- "Dan ate the clouds like cotton candy."
- "Rabid platypi plunder the ever frothing seas of cheese and used people, cautiously."
  -t is jud "The hay factory realized that it wanted to be a cat, and grew tentacles of wisdom in order to overthrow the senate."
- "Colorless green ideas sleep furiging a human oufor chosly." (Noaosing ceream Chomsky's faml over toast.
  ous grammatically-correct-but-nonsense example)
- "The furnace repairman indicated the heating system was acting as an air conditioner."
- "There's probably enough glass in my cupboard to build an undersea- The fi aquarium."
- "All clouds have souls."rs t computer "bug" was literally a moth found stuck in a relay in 1947.
- If you lined up all the stars in the Milky Way end to end, the line would stretch across the galaxy and back.
- A group of flamingos is called a "flamboyance," which honestly feels underwhelming.